

Step 5: Getting Involved

How far should we go to fight for a cause?

OBJECTIVES

- Express a point of view and listen to others' arguments
- At the end of the activity participants will have discussed the different causes that mean something to them. Each participant will also have thought about the question "How far should we go to fight for a cause?", whilst understanding arguments on both sides.

DESCRIPTION

During this activity participants will participate in a moving debate to discuss the legitimacy of different methods used to fight for a cause.

DURATION
